Adhering to prevailing wages and apprenticeship requirements results in tax credits that are five times the base amount--which could encourage investment in projects with higher labor costs.

To receive the full 30% ITC or the full PTC rate, projects larger than one megawatt (MW) must now meet specific prevailing wage and apprenticeship labor requirements. Projects that don't ...

The United States Internal Revenue Code (IRC) allows production or investment tax credits for taxpayers using wind to produce electricity or for placing wind energy property into service.

The Inflation Reduction Act (IRA), which became law on August 16, 2022, extends and increases tax credits for wind energy projects that begin construction prior to January 1, 2025.

The cost of tax credits for investing in wind and solar electric power is uncertain because the underlying activity--the amount of investment itself--is uncertain. The ITC and PTC provide an incentive for ...

Wind energy systems often operate without interrupting telecommunications services, however in some cases the placement of a turbine could lead to the disruption of communications signals.

This is done by establishing a PTC base rate of 0.3 cents per kWh (adjusted annually for inflation after 1992) and then providing a 5x multiplier for those projects that satisfy the new prevailing ...
